Our Philosophy

It's not "just daycare"; it's the beginning of a lifetime of learning! We know that your choice of early childhood programs is one of the most important decisions you will make for your child; therefore we are committed to providing a warm, loving and rewarding experience for your family in a Christian environment, because great beginnings last a lifetime!

Education

The Learning Station utilizes Creative Curriculum in our preschool environments and an emergent curriculum in our Infant and Toddler classrooms that is designed to help every child reach his or her highest potential. We have a kindergarten readiness program that emphasizes reading, writing, math, music, language, creative art, physical activity, and sensory exploration. Every child's social and emotional development is nurtured as they learn to make friends, interact with others, and become successful members of a community.

Our Story

Jeff and Donna Jensen, New Jersey natives, relocated to Conway, SC in 1987. Donna's career working with children began in high school. Upon leaving Kean College and moving to SC she quickly found that SC had much lower standards than NJ for Early Childhood. After working in centers that did not meet her expectations she became an in home family childcare provider from 1987- 1993. Because she wanted to impact more children in 1992 she founded St. James Child Development Center in Conway where she was the director until April, 2000. In May of 2000 she opened Gymboree Play & Music in Carolina Forest and began a small preschool program, which quickly outgrew the facility and moved to Waccamaw Blvd. where The Learning Station was born! After outgrowing the Waccamaw Blvd. location The Learning Station moved to Singleton Ridge Rd in April of 2006. The Jensen's four sons, Jeffrey, Jason, Jacob, and Jordan are all graduates of their family's preschool program! With over 30 years in the early childhood field, the Jensens have been able to impact thousands of children's lives and still feel that making a difference for families is their number one goal. Because of their strong Christian faith they have created a program that will meet family needs but also allow children to learn about Jesus every day in a way that they can understand!
